RUSHVILLE WILL HAVE NEW LIGHTS

Council Agrees to Install Posts if the Business Men Will Buy All Fixtures Above Ground.

WILL START WORK AT ONCE

Merchants Agree to Lend Influence to Bring About Greater Consumption of Electricity.

Rushville is to have decorative pedestal lights. At a meeting of the city council as a committee and a committee from the Rushville Retail Merchants Association last night, it was finally agreed that the new lights should be purchased and installed, according to the plans first submitted to the council by the merchants, with one exception, that is that the business men agree to lend their influence in every way possible to increase the consumption of electricity so that the revenue can be made greater.

The general plan of the agreement finally reached last night is almost similar to the one which was first presented by the business men when they petitioned the council to install the street lights. The only difference is in the watt power lamp which is to be used. It will be remembered that the merchants a few weeks ago presented an agreement to the city council, in which they declared that they would purchase the fixtures for the lights above the sidewalks, if the city would install them. That agreement was practically adopted last night when the city council agreed to install the lights, buy the wires and conduits for all of the underground work. The merchants will in turn purchase the iron poles, the lamps and globes and will lay them on the ground ready to be put up.

The merchants, when they first presented their petition, asked that one hundred watt lamps be used on all of the poles. The councilmen took exception to this, believing that they would consume too much electricity. They suggested last night that the one hundred watt light be used only on the top lamp of the pole and that sixty watt lights be placed on the other four lamps on each pole. The merchants readily agreed to that and the iron posts, when installed, will have five lights, one at the top which will be one hundred watt and four below in a circle which will be sixty watt lamps.

The question was raised as to how the lights should be burned. The councilmen and merchants agreed that it would be the best plan to burn only a part of the lights on each pole all night. It was finally decided that the one hundred watt lamp should burn all night and that the other four on each pole should be turned out at ten o'clock each night through the week and at twelve o'clock on Saturday night. The city councilmen have not yet decided whether or not they will do away with the six are lights which will be in the district to be lighted by the pedestal lights. In case they are left up, all of the sidewalk lights will be turned out in the evening.

The lights will be installed soon, as the brick street contractors expect to push their work all winter and the excavation work will be in the business district in a few weeks. It is the present plan to get the underground work in while the streets are torn up so that it will not be necessary to destroy the brick streets after they are once laid. With that end in view, A. T. Mahin, superintendent of the light plant, today ordered the material to be used in installing a portion of the lights so that those in Main street can be put up as soon as the brick contractors tear up the streets.

The action of the council has met with the general approval of merchants and residents alike, who are in favor of a better Rushville. The good qualities of the new decorative lights which are to be installed have been set forth on numerous occasions. There is no doubt but that the improvement will put Rushville far in advance of any city in eastern Indiana so far as street lighting is concerned. All of the cities in this section have been considering the improvement since the Rushville business men have started the agitation and there seems to be no doubt but that it will finally result in many cities adopting the improvement.

At the meeting last night, the merchants agreed to lend their influence to the city council to increase the consumption of electricity in the city so that the light plant can collect a greater revenue. The councilmen say that the new lights will use up more electricity than the ones have and will be more costly. They ask that all of the merchants possible burn electricity and help the cause along. They declare that with a greater consumption of electricity, the rate can be reduced and electricity can be had by the business men and residents as well for less money.

MONDAY CIRCLE PLANS FOR LECTURE

Dr. Madison Swadener Will Give an Address at St. Paul M. E. Church November 11.

INTEREST OF PUBLIC LIBRARY

The members of the Monday Circle made arrangements for a lecture to be delivered here that will no doubt please all Rushville. Dr. Madison Swadener, generally known as "The Man of Inspiration" will give an address here on Friday evening, November 11, at the St. Paul M. E. church, under the auspices of the literary club. The proceeds of the lecture will be given to the D. A. R. library in the court house. Dr. Swadener, by all authorities, is said to be one of the most popular as well as one of the best versed men on the Lyceum platform today. The local women felt very much elated when they finally learned that they could get him for one lecture. The members of the Monday Circle are deeply thankful that Rushville can have a library, they appreciate the efforts of the members of the local chapter of D. A. R. and for that reason they expect to give it all of the financial aid possible, for it is from that that it gets its life.

ARREST PAINTER FOR PERJURY

Henry Kiplinger is Taken to Henry County by Shelby County Sheriff to Answer Charge.

HAS LIVED HERE FOUR WEEKS

Henry Kiplinger was arrested here today by Sheriff Butler of Shelby county on a charge of perjury, preferred in Henry county. Kiplinger is a painter and moved here from Shelbyville about four weeks ago. The indictment for perjury was returned in Henry county where it is alleged that he committed the misdemeanor. Thinking that Kiplinger lived in Shelbyville, the Henry county authorities sent the order for arrest there. The sheriff learned that he had moved to this city and came here and arrested him.

POPULAR EVENTS COME LAST DAY

Ladies Driving, Hitching and Saddle Contests Will be Big Attraction Tomorrow.

IS LARGE LIST OF ENTRIES

Large Crowd in Attendance For the Opening Today But Larger One is Expected Tomorrow.

The third annual horse show was very auspiciously opened this morning at ten o'clock, when a parade of the horses which up to that time had been entered, was made over the downtown streets. The big parade of premium stuff, which will be the big feature of the show, will be held tomorrow evening after all of the premiums have been awarded. It promises to excel all other horse show parades, since the promoters have made a ruling that any entrant who refuses to parade, will forfeit his premium. The showing of the premium stuff tomorrow in the parade together with the light harness class, which includes the ladies driving event and the ladies horseback events is expected to draw a much larger crowd than was here today.

A much more interesting program will be offered tomorrow than was had today, on account of the numerous events which will attract the feminine onlookers and also all men who admire fancy light harness horse flesh. The general purpose, light harness and special prize classes are scheduled for tomorrow. The ladies hitching contest as well as the ladies driving contest has always been a greater drawing card than any other events on the program. They will be on the program for tomorrow afternoon. A large number of entries have been made in each of the events and a warm contest is anticipated.

First street has been scraped and prepared for the light harness events which will be held there tomorrow afternoon. First street was chosen for those classes as the street is much smoother and in better condition for driving than any other street in the downtown district. The crossings have been covered so that there will be no danger of accidents.

The different classes were run off in Main and Second streets today. The crowds along those streets were estimated to be much larger than at any other previous show. The general purpose class and the mule class was finished this afternoon so that everything will be in readiness to start in the midst of the general purpose class in the morning. The managers say that there is a better bunch of horses being shown this year than ever before.

The prizes for the best decorated store windows were announced this afternoon, the first prize of fifteen dollars being given to Morris & Bassler, who had a pony in their well decorated window. The second prize of ten dollars was awarded to Sue Gregg, her millinery store window being very tastefully arranged, and the third was given to the O. P. C. H., their window being tastefully decorated with white shirts and red neckties. The judges were Mrs. Ed Logan of Richland, Mrs. Charles Carr of Homer and Mrs. Rich of Mays.

The Rushville band gave concerts all day and will give a concert tomorrow.

Trespassing on railroad property in violation of the law has caused the deaths of more than fifty thousand people in the United States in the last eleven years. In this same period more than 55,000 trespassers have been injured.

CORONER SAYS IT WAS NEGLIGENCE

Fayette County Official Returns a Verdict in I. & C. Traction Wreck of Last Week.

REFERS CASE TO PROSECUTOR

Says Crew Was Unlawfully and Wantonly Guilty of Violating Company's Rule.

Coroner C. M. Spicely Wednesday afternoon, filed his verdict in the case of the death of Carl Hunt, who was killed in the traction wreck near Osage station last week, says the Connersville News. The coroner finds that the man who was killed and William E. Ratliff, who was conductor on the car, were guilty of unlawfully and wantonly violating the company's rules, and of gross negligence.

The language of the finding, in part is thus: "I find that on said 13th of October, 1910, said Hunt and Ratliff, while violating the rules of said Traction company, unlawfully, wantonly and with gross negligence ran, propelled and drove said train, No. 151, into and against train No. 6, of said Traction company, by reason whereof said train No. 151, upon which the said Hunt was then and there bruised and crushed so that he then and there on said day died."

Thus the man Ratliff, who was the conductor on the car and was therefore, nominally at least, as much responsible for the car's movements as was the motorman, is placed in a most uncomfortable situation. The matter has been referred by the coroner to Prosecutor Edwards. What his action in the case will be is not known.

CITY LOSES DAMAGE SUIT

Emma Morrow Wins in Case in Hancock Circuit Court.

Emma Morrow was given a verdict for $1,000 damages, against the city of Rushville Wednesday morning, says the Greenfield Reporter. Pierce Kauble was foreman of the jury, which was out only a short time. Mrs. Morrow alleges that the city was negligent in stretching a rope across a street without placing a danger signal. She drove into the rope, upsetting her rig and throwing her to the street. She claimed to be severely injured.

HOW TO SAVE EGGS WHEN PRICE IS HIGH

Can be Packed in Salt so That They Will Not Touch One Another.

WILL KEEP FRESH FOR MONTHS

Now is the time when eggs are plentiful and reasonably cheap, to lay in a supply for the winter when their scarcity sends the price skyward. It is not generally known that there is a simple way of packing fresh eggs that will preserve them for several months.

Buy eggs you know to be fresh, and pack them in salt. Place an inch layer of salt to entirely surround every egg. The eggs must not touch each other in the box. Then pack the box full of eggs in this manner, each egg being entirely surrounded with salt.

Eggs so packed will keep fresh for months. Some housekeepers who have tried to pack eggs in bran and cats have failed because of air reaching the eggs. The salt packs closely and may get as hard as a rock but you may easily dig the eggs out with a table fork. Now is the time when the cold storage men are filling their houses with eggs for which they will charge you a fancy price.

CASE IS OF STATE WIDE INTEREST

First Skirmish in Johnson Case at New Castle Was Expected to Come Today.

MEANS MUCH TO DEFENDANT

Attorneys for Mrs. Etta Johnson and H. H. Evans and Senator Johnson, for the State, spent Wednesday reviewing the matter in hands and preparing for the legal struggle which was expected to begin today at New Castle. Its result means much to Mrs. Johnson, accused of murdering her husband. If the court holds that proof is lacking and that the presumption of guilt is not strong, she will be admitted to bail. If Mrs. Johnson fails to disprove the allegations she will remain in jail.

A State-wide interest has been taken in the case since the grand jury indicted Mrs. Johnson and one can scarcely pick up a newspaper without finding a Johnson case story featured.

WARNS AUDIENCE OF "INTERESTS"

James R. Garfield of Ohio Opened Republican Speaking Campaign in Knightstown Last Night.

LOCAL POLITICIANS ATTENDED

Said it Would be Great Calamity to Allow Democratic Party to Get Control of Affairs.

James R. Garfield of Ohio opened the speaking campaign in Knightstown for the Republicans last night before an audience that filled the Alhambra Opera House there. Mr. Garfield received a warm reception and his speech was vigorously applauded. During his talk Mr. Garfield said:

"We must see that every political office is free from the influence of special interests and that the representatives are the people's representatives and not the representatives of special interests. Special interests have influence that are wrongful influences. The special interests have not been confined to one political party. The Republican party was organized to fight the special interests of the South at the time of the civil war. The Republican party has stood against special interests. The ballot may at times be corrected, but it can not be controlled. We must see to it that the men who receive our ballot will be bound solely by their allegiance to the people."

Mr. Garfield paid a tribute to the late Senator Dolliver of Iowa. In closing he said that it would be the greatest of all calamities to allow the disorganized Democratic party to regulate the affairs of this country at this time.

Former State Senator L. P. Newby of Knightstown presided over the meeting. Music was furnished by the Greenfield band and the Newcastle Glee Club. Large delegations from Greenfield, Newcastle, this city and other cities were present.

TWO SHOTS FIRED AT 'JACK THE PEEPER'

Milroy People Kept in Terror by a Mysterious Man, Who Looks in Windows.

EXCITING TIME LAST NIGHT

Milroy was all excitement last night. The cause of this excitement was "Jack the Peeper." This quiet little town has been troubled lately by a man whom they have called "Jack the Peeper." He sneaks around and looks in windows. On several occasions he has frightened and kept the citizens in terror. All attempts to capture or recognize the man, or men, as some seem to think there are two of them, have come to naught. He invariably makes his escape.

The climax came last night when he was seen peeping in the window of a prominent resident. The man, seizing a revolver, ran to the door and fired two shots at the fast retreating figure of the man seen at the window. Neither shot took effect, however, and the mystery is still unsolved.

Just a Word for Daddy

We happened in a home the other night, says an exchange, and over the parlor door saw the legend worked in letters of red, "What is Home Without Mother?" Across the room was another brief, "God Bless Our Home."

Now, what's the matter with "God Bless Our Dad?" He gets up early, lights the fire, boils an egg, and wipes off the dew of the dawn with his boots while many a mother is sleeping. He makes the weekly handout for the butcher, the grocer, the milkman and baker, and his pile is badly worn before he has been home an hour.

If there is a noise during the night dad is kicked in the back and made to go down-stairs to find the burglar and kill him. Mother darts the socks, but dad bought the socks in the first place and he needles and the yarn afterwards. Mother does up the fruit; well, dad bought it all, and jars and sugar cost like the mischief.

Dad buys the chickens for the Sunday dinner, carves them himself and draws the neck from the ruins after everyone else is served. "What Is Home Without a Mother?" Yes, that is all right; but what is home without a father? Ten chances to one it's a boarding house, father is under a slab and the landlady is the widow. Dad, here's to you—you've got your faults—you have lots of 'em—but you're all right, and we will miss you when you're gone.

CHURCH UNITY NOW PROPOSED

General Episcopal Convention Favors the Plan.

W. MANNING'S RESOLUTION

Conforming to the Decision of Edinburgh Conference, Episcopal Church in America Adopts a Resolution Looking Toward Ultimate Union of Whole Family of Christ—Other Matters Receive Conference's Attention.

Cincinnati, Oct. 20.—The most far-reaching step toward the ultimate plan of Christian unity was taken at the general Episcopal convention when the house of deputies, by a unanimous rising vote, adopted a resolution presented by Rev. W. T. Manning, rector of Trinity church, New York city, creating a joint commission to arrange for and call a world conference of all Christian bodies following the decision of the Edinburgh missionary conference. Dr. Manning, as chairman of the church unity committee, said:

"We believe that the time has now arrived when representatives of the whole family of Christ may come together to consider questions of faith and order and to lay aside their self-will. We offer this resolution with grief for our aloofness in the past and for other faults of pride and self-sufficiency which makes for schism; with loyalty to the truth as we see it, and with respect for the convictions of those who differ from us, holding the belief that the beginnings of unity are to be found in the clear statement and full consideration of those things in which we differ as well as of those things in which we are one."

Resolutions were adopted, placing the chaplains of the army and navy under the jurisdiction of the bishop of Washington, D. C. The question of expunging the words "Jews, Turks, infidels and heretics" from the Good Friday collect of the prayer book was not acted upon finally by the convention, the matter being referred to a committee to report at the next convention.

Both houses concurred in allowing the use of the American Bible in the reading of the lessons at morning and evening prayer. The 1901 convention made authoritative the King James version with marginal readings, and since then efforts have been made to secure the permission of the other two versions as well, finally succeeding.

DARING ESCAPE

Kentucky Horsethief Rescued by Confederate, Who Kills Captor.

Henderson, Ky., Oct. 20.—Marshal John Scaggs of Clarkston, Ky., was assassinated at the door of the county jail as he was taking Chester Fentress, an alleged horsethief, to the building. The shot was fired by Fentress's confederate, whose identity is unknown and who, it is believed, had followed the officer and prisoner from Leitchfield, in Grayson county. Fentress and the assassin escaped. Scaggs died instantly.

Fentress was caught in Grayson county and charged with stealing a horse. Scaggs went to Leitchfield to bring Fentress back to Henderson.

The police learned that Scaggs had gotten off a streetcar and started through the park when five shots were fired. Immediately two men, one of them carrying an automatic pistol and the other one plainly showing his handcuffs, ran toward the river.

WORLD'S BIGGEST FARMER

David Rankin, Born in Indiana, Is Dead at Tarkio, Mo.

Tarkio, Mo., Oct. 20.—David Rankin, operator of the largest farm in the world, is dead at his home here. Mr. Rankin began his career in 1846 with half a yoke of oxen—one bull. On the 25,649 broad acres he leaves 250 men are employed. He planted 19,000 acres to corn a year, yielding about 1,000,000 bushels. One thousand horses and mules are required to do the work of this vast farm, and Mr. Rankin bought 250 carloads of feeding cattle at a time. In one field he had 6,000 acres of corn, the largest cornfield in the world. This millionaire farmer raised more corn each year than the nine states of Utah, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Rhode Island, Wyoming and Nevada combined.

Mr. Rankin was born on a Sullivan county (Indiana) farm in 1825.

NEW YORK GRAFT HAS TAKEN A NEW SLANT

Details Concerning Half Million Slush Fund Appear.

New York, Oct. 20.—Word of a corruption fund of $500,000 raised in an unsuccessful effort to defeat the passage by the legislature of the anti-race-track bills, has been brought out by the graft committee.

Congressman and former State Senator Otto G. Foelker of Brooklyn gave direct testimony of efforts made to bribe him by former State Senator Frank J. Gardner and former Quarantine Commissioner Frank Schroeder (now in Sing Sing). Robert Elder, first assistant district attorney of Kings county, repeated a story which he testified had been told to him by Frank J. Gardner, to the effect that bookmakers and racehorse owners had raised a fund of $500,000, which had been distributed presumably where it would do the most good to persons in Albany. According to Elder's narration of Gardner's story, the anti-race-track bill had been passed because Senator Patrick H. McCarran, the Brooklyn Democratic boss, was picked that he had not had the exclusive handling of the fund, and to punish those who had thus slighted him, he failed to use the potent influence he possessed and which if used would have defeated the passage of the bill.

Gardner, who was recently arrested in Scranton, Pa., and indicted on charges in connection with the bribery scandal, had with him his young wife, formerly May Verby, an actress, with whom he was on his wedding trip when arrested, in a front row. When Gardner took the witness chair he tossed a typewritten document to Chairman Merritt, saying: "That embodies the only statement that I shall make before this committee." In response to a question regarding his residence, the witness replied: "I shall at this time decline to answer any and all questions on the ground that the information elicited may tend to incriminate or degrade me." He was declared in contempt and the district attorney notified.

STORM WARNING BEING SENT OUT

Hurricane Fag End to Combine With Northwesterner.

WEATHER TROUBLES IN STORE

Dangerous Gales Are Promised in the Middle and North Atlantic States, to Be Followed by the Coldest Weather of the Season Over the Entire Northwest, and Probable Gales All Along the Atlantic Coast.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The tropical storm has continued to move slowly up the coast, and it is now centered near Charleston, S. C. The storm has apparently lost some of its energy, although still very severe. The rain has advanced ahead of the storm, and it is now raining in the coast states as far north as Pennsylvania. It is probable that this storm will combine with another disturbance which is advancing from the west and cause dangerous gales in the middle and north Atlantic states tonight. Following in the wake of the western storm is a cold, high area of considerable magnitude accompanied by the coldest weather of the present season over the entire northwest. In connection with these conditions high winds have already occurred in the lake region of the west, and storm warnings are displayed at every station on the great lakes. Moreover, hurricane warnings are flying on the Atlantic coast from Wilmington to Sandy Hook inclusive, and storm warnings north of Sandy Hook to Newburyport, Mass.

Storm Reports Exaggerated.

Havana, Oct. 20.—Contrary to expectations, the hurricane did no damage on the Isle of Pines beyond blowing the fruit from the orange and lemon trees. Reports of the loss of life in the province of Pinar del Rio were exaggerated. Not more than seventeen were killed. Most of the tobacco barns in the province were blown down. All the overdue steamers have arrived safely.

Fate of Steamers in Doubt.

New Orleans, Oct. 20.—Four steamers on their way to New Orleans have not been heard from and fears for their safety are entertained, as they must have been in the thick of the gulf storm.

BIG SNOW STORM

Plenty of "the Beautiful" Out West and Coming This Way.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 20.—The first snowstorm of the season is sweeping eastward across the trans-Missouri country. Railroad traffic is tied up in Wyoming and Colorado and snowplows have been ordered out for the first time this season. In Wyoming snow and sleet extend from Cheyenne to the western boundaries of the state. All railroad traffic is being interfered with in that territory. The Moffatt line in Colorado is struggling with from ten to fifteen feet of snow, and no trains will run on that line for several days.

HOME AGAIN

Walter Wellman and Party Land After Exciting Experience.

New York, Oct. 20.—Walter Wellman and his five companions who were rescued at sea from the dirigible balloon America by the steamship Trent about 375 miles east of Norfolk while attempting to fly from Atlantic City to Europe, reached New York aboard the Trent yesterday afternoon. Mr. Wellman, still wearing his khaki aviation clothes which he had on when sailing from Atlantic City in the balloon at 8 o'clock last Saturday morning, showed no ill effects of the voyage, nor did his companions.

"I cannot answer definitely when I shall make another trial, if at all," Wellman answered in response to a query as to whether he would again attempt the journey across the water via the air lanes.

Senator Elkins Seriously Ill.

Elkins, W. Va., Oct. 20.—Senator Stephen B. Elkins, the senior senator from this state, is in a critical condition at his home "Hallhurst," near here. He is sixty-seven years of age. He has been suffering from a nervous affliction, which has now reached the critical stage.

Rexall Drug Men in Convention

More Than Twelve Hundred Stockholders of the United Drug Company Attend Eighth Annual Event in Boston

The most important convention of its kind ever held in the east, if not in the country, ended in Boston recently when more than 1800 stockholders of the United Drug Company, and some 600 ladies, members of their families, stood in the immense enclosure of the Boston Arena and united their voices in the chorus of "Auld Lang Syne" as a finale to the annual banquet. It made an impressive sight. The magnitude of everything connected with the banquet cannot be adequately described, for the plans were carried on a scale commensurate with what the convention represents, a gathering of leading druggists from every section of the North American continent.

For three days business and pleasure were combined. While the program was confined to that length of time, yet the early arrival in Boston of several hundred stockholders allowed these men to fraternize and exchange ideas extemporaneously, and as many as to remain here a few days longer it means an entire week practically devoted to the interests of the company. This was the eighth convention of those whose stand sponsor for the Rexall remedies, and it surpassed its predecessors in every way. Plans that have been perfected after months of work were in such complete shape that there was no possibility of disarrangement, and today President Louis K. Liggett was complimented freely on the success achieved by him and his subordinates. Men of prominence in attendance who have taken part in many national affairs were amazed at the admirable features introduced here and they were not stinting in their praise.

The keynote of the business sessions was the advancement of the sale of pure drugs and the prevention of the sale of noxious preparations, so that purchasers might be certain that they were getting the best drugs obtainable at the lowest possible price, allowing a fair margin of profit to the dealer. The newer stockholders learned from their talks with the older ones how valuable the co-operative idea has been because it eliminated the middleman; how during the past eight years business had increased largely because the purchase had confidence in Rexall remedies, and this allowed the company—the largest organization of its kind in the world—to buy its drugs in such wholesale quantities as to permit a great saving, with the natural result that the quality was always bound to be excellent. A large number of the stockholders, having been in business for many years, were able to speak words of wisdom from experience, and their words were listened to carefully, while on the other hand these older men were glad to hear the younger men give their opinions, realizing that this is an age of progressive ideas and young, fresh minds contain many kernels of value. Naturally every stockholder derived much benefit from the business sessions, all of which were attended by practically every one.

The banquet on Thursday evening was a fitting climax to the three days' convention. While the party was visiting the laboratories a big force of workmen was busily engaged removing the booths in the Boston Arena building and replacing them with tables, so that when evening arrived and the gentlemen escorting the ladies arrived at the place the transformation was astonishingly complete. Here again everything was on the same mammoth scale that marked the preceding events. The head table alone was 80 feet long. With thousands of lights shining, the perfume from hundreds of prettily arranged floral decoration pervading the air, delightful music stealing across from a hidden bower, ladies in beautiful evening gowns, gentlemen arrayed in spotless black and white tables heaped with banquet fixtures, it made a beautiful composite picture. Yet there was nothing savoring of affectation or primness about the gathering. It was like a big, happy family. The small dealers in the little town rubbed elbows and chatted amiably with the proprietor of the largest store in a metropolis, for this is the spirit that prevails all through the organization and insures its success. The music for the banquet was furnished by the famous Bostonian orchestra Belle Venton Renfrew, conductor, the same orchestra that supplied the music at the clambake outing.

T. W. Lytle is the Rexall druggist in this city and is a stockholder in the company, as is every business man who sells their goods.

MODERN HAIR DRESSING

has played havoc with the tresses of the fair sex, and druggists everywhere comment on the fact that they are selling large quantities of sage for making the old-fashioned "sage tea," such as was used by our grandmothers for promoting the growth of their hair and restoring its natural color. The demand for this well-known herb for this purpose has been so great that one manufacturer has taken advantage of the fact, and has placed on the market an ideal "sage tea," containing sulphur, a valuable remedy for dandruff and scalp rashes and irritations. This preparation, which is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

The Shelbyville city council prohibited roller skating on the sidewalks. The matter had become such a nuisance to the residents that some of them put gravel on the cement walks to prevent the use of it by the skaters.

Columbus, Ind., is not satisfied with the census count, which gives it a population of 8,813, a gain of 683 in ten years. They are demanding a recount. This dissatisfaction comes from the preposterous population claims between the census years.

It is often said that "politics makes strange bed-fellows." Alton B. Parker and William J. Bryan were both speakers in Indiana the same week. Mr. Bryan said in 1904 that Judge Parker was Wall Street's candidate for President—but supported him; and Judge Parker said in the two preceding campaigns that Mr. Bryan was a demagogue and a dangerous politician—and supported him. So, there you are.

The action of the city council last night in granting the new street lights will be fully approved by the citizens of Rushville, and especially those who wish to see Rushville to be one of the prettiest towns in the State. The general plan adopted as to the number of poles to the square, the candle-power of the lamps and the hours of burning could not be improved upon. It will be found that these lights will make a better showing in Rushville than those at Indianapolis because here there are not so many electric signs and other glaring illuminations to detract from the light effect of the posts.

Walter Wellman, although he failed to cross the Atlantic, has made a record, and in addition has learned a thing or two by experiment. His big balloon has proven not to be as dirigible as he thought it was, and the drag or "equilibrator" did not perform the intended function, but was a direct hindrance. What Mr. Wellman's future plan may be, has not yet been made known, but in the meantime he can make lots of "copy" for the newspapers and magazines on his brief experiences in the air.

Every voter who casts a ballot at the coming election in November should view the exercise of that privilege and duty in its largest aspect. He should think of the effect of that vote upon himself and his family, his community, his State and his country. He should remember that or weal or for woe every vote he casts will affect the interests of himself and his neighbor. Sometimes it is not easy to determine how a vote should be cast, but the citizen who goes to the ballot box divesting himself of every consideration but the desire to make his vote count for his country can not go far astray.

The man who carries to the ballot box a personal grudge, a petty prejudice, and permits such a consideration to determine his ballot in any respect, degrades himself as a citizen and prostitutes a sacred duty to the most unworthy use. No man has a right to do this. No man has a right to forget what the larger effect of his act may be when he permits some petty thing to affect him in the exercise of the suffrage.

On election day let every man forget the little and remember the large things. Let him ignore petty gossip and think on great issues, affecting vitally the welfare of the people of the State. And then, let him cast such a ballot that there will be no chance whatever of that vote being counted wrong, or contributing even indirectly to influences and conditions that no thinking man, anxious for the welfare of himself and his neighbors, will want to prevail here or elsewhere in Indiana.

Will be a Monument.

The new pedestal, sidewalk lights, which were finally won for Rushville last night, is an achievement of the Rushville Merchant's Association which will long live as a monument to its life. The improvement would never have been had without the strenuous efforts of the business men of Rushville. The innovation in lighting for cities of this size would never even have been considered, had it not been for the Merchant's Association.

When they brought the new discussion before the public eye, the general remarks over the city were, that it would go no farther. But the Retail Merchant's Association has already proved that it is not made up of that sort of men. They are all earnest and sincere and are working for the betterment of Rushville which is coming slowly but surely.

Let's all take off our hats to the Rushville Retail Merchant's Association for the last, the greatest of its works.

HIS DEATH WAS UNEXPECTED

David B. Hill, ex-United States senator and former governor of New York, died suddenly at 3:45 o'clock this morning at Wolfert's Roost, his country home, according to a dispatch from Albany, New York.

About two weeks ago Mr. Hill was seized with a bilious attack while at his law office, in Albany, and although his condition was not regarded as serious at the time, his physician advised him to remain at home until he recovered. A cold developed and a few days later alarming reports of his condition were circulated. These reports, however, were denied by his friends. In fact, the patient appeared to be improving until last night, when he suffered a sinking spell, which resulted in his death.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

HURT IN ACCIDENT.

(Connersville Examiner.)

Charlie Miles of Raleigh was the victim of an accident Tuesday morning about eleven o'clock in Falmouth, where he was engaged in drilling the town well and as a result he received serious injuries.

The pipe which the men who are employed on the work were using had broken off in the ground and they had taken part of it from the ground by means of a cable. Mr. Miles was supporting one end of the pipe when the accident occurred. The cable, which was holding the pipe, broke and the pipe was released. Mr. Miles threw up his left hand to keep the pipe from striking him on the head and when he did so the force of the blow broke the small bone in his left arm and also broke his left shoulder. He also suffered a severe scalp wound and he was rendered unconscious. After physicians had attended to his injuries Mr. Miles was removed to his home at Raleigh.

EXPECTED TO BE FIERCE STRUGGLE

Football Game Between Indiana and Wisconsin Will be Played in Indianapolis Saturday.

LOCAL PEOPLE ARE GOING
Both Elevens Are Strong and Are About Evenly Matched For Coming Contest.

What is expected to be one of the fiercest struggles on the western gridirons this fall will occur Saturday, October 22, at Washington Park, Indianapolis, when the mole-skinned warriors of Indiana University clash with those of Wisconsin University. Both teams are exceptionally strong and evenly matched. The outcome of the battle will introduce one of the contenders for the western inter-collegiate conference championship this year.

Excursions will be run from practically every section of the State. The rates will be exceptionally low, while the admission to the game is a matter of slight importance. Tickets to the contest, which is to be called at three o'clock, will be on sale at the Denison Hotel, Indiana's headquarters, and numerous other places about the city.

Both teams are determined to win and each has reason to expect victory. The Hoosier team has not lost a game this season, having shut out every rival played thus far. Wisconsin also has won all her games, although her goal line has been crossed a few times. There will be 4,500 seats under cover in case of inclement weather, besides hundreds of seats to be found on the bleachers. Neither time nor effort has been spared to make the occasion as pleasant as possible.

The honor of the State University is at stake, and it is up to every loyal Hoosier and alumnus of Indiana University to go to Indianapolis next Saturday and help Indiana eleven win the western conference championship.

AMUSEMENTS

The Star Grand offers a Biograph subject tonight entitled "The Iconoclast." It shows how the seed of discontent is sown. Iconoclasm, the attacking of cherished beliefs and theories, has ever been the incitement of discontent, but the iconoclast of today may be better termed the social-ist. Discontent is rather induced by selfishness, and selfishness is the seed of irrational socialism, nurtured mainly by laziness, and very often, by drink. Earl Robertson will sing "My Love Is Greater Than the World."

Miss Ethel Barrymore, in the new Pinero play, "Mid-Chamel," will be seen at English's opera house, Indianapolis, on Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22, with a Saturday matinee. The verdict is that the role of "Zoe Bundell" is the greatest success of her brilliant career. It is hardly necessary here to go into detail about the merits of the play as the name of Ethel Barrymore is enough by itself to insure packed houses.

The girls in charge of the Palace theater last night met with great success. They cleared a good sum of money which will be used in helping to defray the expense attached to the State convention of the Tri Kappa sorority which will be held here next year. The Misses Frazee and Lytle pleased the large audiences with their singing and much favorable comment was heard on all sides. The theater will have for tonight an Edison film, "The Great Secret." This is a good drama and is well acted. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaude will have for tonight a fine Imp film, "The Fallen Idol." The Iver of good comedy will enjoy this picture as it is full of good humorous situations. A new illustrated song will be sung.

GROWING CHILDREN

Ardently Loveland longed to get out of the room and to stay out; but, though he could have escaped by carrying the broken dishes into the kitchen, he would not deign to turn his back on the enemy. He gave the tray to Blinky and obeyed a gesture of Alexander's which sent him to take a new order from the Italians.

"I don't believe he'll come to wait on us," whispered Mrs. Milton to Tony Kidd. "If he doesn't it will have been hardly worth the fag of coming all this way downtown. His handing us our things would have been the best fun of all."

"I think you'll get your fun," mumbled Tony, but he was not enjoying himself.

"Of course the man's a fraud and deserves all he's got," the journalist thought. "But I'll be hanged if I like seeing him take his medicine. He's a good plucked one, anyhow."

Never glancing at the eight faces, which watched his every movement with sixteen brilliant eyes, Loveland passed their table and went to tell the cook that the Italian party would have a rum omelet in place of the lost ice cream. Cohen's fried oysters were ready, the Pole having just served them, and now the second course of the dinner—began already with blue points—was waiting for the "swells."

It was soup, and Loveland had either to carry it in and serve it himself or else to show that the torture of the lash was beyond his endurance. "They shall see that I'm not ashamed for myself or afraid of them," he resolved, returning to the restaurant with a steaming tureen and eight hot plates on a tray. Without a change of expression he laid those eight plates, one by one, in their places on the table, and then with a hand which he forced to be steady he ladled out the soup. The ladies drew back, as if uneasy lest he might seek some small revenge. But he was careful not to spill a drop.

"Oh, pa, don't send Mr. Gordon to wait on the swells again!" softly pleaded Isidora, flitting up uneasily. "They're trying to take a rise out of him. It's cruel. I—"

"Thank you, but I don't mind, Miss Alexander," said Loveland, with a grateful look, which went so straight to Isidora's heart that tears started to her eyes.

Val took away the eight soup plates and would not see the amused glances of the good looking Hungarians or Elinor Coolidge's French count. Rocheverte was not cruel at heart, but he did not like Englishmen at best, and Elinor Coolidge, having told him the story of Lord Loveland as she knew it, had said: "We girls want to punish him not only for the way he would have deceived us all if he could, but for his perfectly horrid, supercilious airs when we used to know him on board ship. So please help us by sneering and staring as much as you can without making a scene."

She had looked so handsome when she made this request that De Rocheverte had told her he would grant it with pleasure, and he was doing his best to keep his word.

They had got as far in the dinner as

Feet Tired—So Tired?

TIZ Makes Sick Feet Well No Matter What Ails Them.

TIZ acts at once and makes tired, aching, swollen feet remarkably fresh and sore proof.

It's the sure remedy, you know, for everything that gets the matter with your feet. It's for sore feet and for sweaty, bad-smelling feet, and for corns, callouses and bunions, too. "For years I have been troubled with sore and tender feet; suffered intense pains. Have had the assistance of physicians without relief. I bought a box of TIZ, which worked a perfect cure, as it has with a great many of my friends. I would not be without it. All it requires is to be known to be universally used." A. F. Drentzer, Chicago.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous excretions which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

TIZ is for sale at all drugists, 25 cents per box, or it will be sent you direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

This accounts for the many delicate, sickly and ailing children we see on our streets.

We wish the mother of every such child would come to our store for a bottle of Vinol, as it is a delicious food liver and iron tonic which children love to take, and it is easily assimilated.

A grateful mother in Durand, Mich., says her little girl was weak, pale and had no appetite. She gave her Vinol and she began to thrive at once—and she gained rapidly in weight, color and strength. (Name furnished on request.)

Vinol builds up good healthy flesh and tissue and makes thin little limbs round and plump.

chicken fried with cream gravy, for which Black Dick was renowned, when the restaurant door opened and Mr. Milton walked in, accompanied by another man.

Milton sauntered over to the table and spoke to every one civilly, darting only one covert, ugly glance at his wife, when her fascinated gaze rested upon the fading bruise which discolored his square jaw.

"Read the Light this morning, Tony, and the afternoon papers copying it," he said. "Thought I'd drop in at the cockfight and see the fun. Great stunt, isn't it?" He eyed Loveland up and down as if the Englishman were a freak at a museum. "Of course the story was yours?"

For the first time Val's eyes and Tony's met, only for an instant, but there was something like reproach in Loveland's. A trapped hare might have thrown a look like that at the keeper who trapped him.

CHAPTER XVI.

FIRE!

M. R. MILTON turned away and was drawing out a chair for himself near one upon which a seedy, bearded stranger had placed a small leather hand bag when suddenly the whole restaurant seemed alive with dry, crackling explosions, and in the same instant the electric lamps went out. The room, a moment ago brilliantly lighted, was black as a vault save for a glimmer from the street that shone through the window. Then, as every one jumped up, overturning chairs or breaking glasses in their hurry and the shrieks of the Italian women mingled with the strange crackling sounds, there came from somewhere at the back a loud detonation, followed by a hoarse roaring like a blast furnace. Men cried out in amazed alarm, and the dark room lit up ominously with a crimson glare that turned the curtain through which it leaked the color of blood.

In rushed Black Dick and his assistant, with Blinky, who had been busy in the kitchen, and all three shouted wildly, "Fire, fire!"

The restaurant was in a state of chaos. A long jet of flame sweeping out from the kitchen and across the narrow passage caught the curtain in the doorway, up which little serpents of fire began to crawl. Every woman was screaming now in a panic of fear whipped to horror by the red darkness and the crackling explosions which snapped and spluttered on every side. The excitable Italians chattered and struggled with one another in the dark.

the new Polish waiter ran here and there like a frightened chicken that sees the ax, the two negroes were almost in convulsions, and Tony Kidd called vainly on the Hungarian brothers and De Rocheverte for help in bringing order out of confusion.

At the time of the first explosion Loveland had been quietly setting a plate of fried chicken before Tony, and as the journalist leaped from his seat the two young men were close together.

"Short circuiting; escape from a fused gas pipe!" Loveland yelled through the noise.

"Yes, that's it!" the reporter shouted back mechanically as if to a friend.

Then for a few seconds Tony was overwhelmed by a wild rush of frightened women. In the red light that streamed through the burning curtain he saw a crowd fighting to reach the window and the closed front door of the restaurant.

Upon his incredulous eyes flashed a horrid tableau of De Rocheverte throwing off Elinor Coolidge, who clung to him, crying, "Save me, save me!" As the Frenchman blindly flung her away and dashed toward the door the girl would have fallen on her knees, to be trampled underfoot by the two Hungarians, had not Loveland pushed the men violently aside and caught Elinor in his arms.

"Keep her—keep all the ladies in this corner out of the crush!" he cried to Tony. "I'm going to turn off the gas at the main." Then he gave Elinor, half fainting, to Tony Kidd, who firmly called Mrs. Milton, Miss Turner and Miss Wood by name. The sound of the two calm voices in the midst of shouts, smashing glass, falling chairs and foreign exclamations rallied the women's courage. As Tony held Elinor the three others passed near him, deserted by the foreigners of their party, and in the bloodshot blaze all saw Loveland's tall figure apparently plunge into the flame. He made a dash through the doorway, his arms thrown across his eyes to shield them from the fire, and ten seconds later the loud roaring ceased as suddenly as it had begun. The cracklings had ceased, too, for the short circuiting was over, and the stream of gas burnt itself out an instant after Loveland seized the handle of the main. But the curtain still blazed; the stairway in the passage, the door frames in the kitchen and restaurant were on fire, and the panic raged as wildly as ever among the fallen chairs and tables.

The door handle had been broken by Leo Cohen as he fiercely disputed with Milton the right to get out first, and none could now escape that way, although men battered the panels and strove to break them in. Some one had smashed a hole in the thick plate glass window big enough to create a dangerous draft, but not large enough to give a means of retreat for any of the men and women who, with cut and bleeding hands, struggled to squeeze through the jagged opening.

One hand badly burned, face and hair singed, Loveland was back in a minute from his errand at the gas main. He had snatched up a huge kettle of water from the stove and dashed it on to the stairs, quenching the small flames which had begun to curl and writhe. Then, tearing down the curtain, he trampled out the fire, and as the flames died into shooting sparks and feebly puffing smoke he urged Tony to bring the ladies that way. "Upstairs—we'll get them upstairs out of the crowd!" he shouted, but instantly the whole throng would have turned to stream in that direction had not Tony Kidd kept the way clear by making an obstacle of his own broad shoulders.

INDIANAPOLIS GREETES BRYAN

Commoner Speaks From Roose- velt's Recent Rostrum.

SAYS TEDDY STOLE THUNDER

All That Roosevelt Is Pleading For,
Says Mr. Bryan, the Democrats Had Been Demanding For Years, and There Is Not a Reform For Which Roosevelt Speaks That Had Not Been Pledged by the Democrats.

Indianapolis, Oct. 20.—William Jennings Bryan was greeted by a large crowd here last night when he spoke from the platform that Mr. Roosevelt occupied last week, his meeting, considering it was at night, being relatively as large as that of the former president and quite as enthusiastic. Mr.
Bryan began by saying that he had intended to devote the principal part of his speech to answering Roosevelt, but he did not read the ex-president's speech till yesterday, and he then found that there was very little in it to occupy his time so long.

He said all that Roosevelt had pleaded for in relation to a better citizenship and equal justice for all men, rich and poor alike, the Democrats had been demanding for years, and there was not a reform for which Roosevelt spoke that was not pledged by the Democrats in their platform of two years ago.

Referring to Senator Beveridge's plea for support because of his efforts to secure a child labor law, he said that if Beveridge had labored for three years in that direction and made no better progress than he had, with the senate and congress Republican, it was very evident that he was lacking in energy and the men of his party lacking in sympathy with those efforts. He paid a glowing tribute to John W. Kern, and said that while he himself had taken an interest in the campaign of two years ago, it was as nothing compared with the interest that he now feels in the success of the Democrats of Indiana. Throughout his speech he was generously applauded.

BRIBERY CHARGED

An Indiana Man in Trouble With the Illinois Authorities.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 20.—Joseph H.
Finkelstein, president of the Greenberg Iron company of Terre Haute, was indicted on a charge of bribery by the Sangamon county grand jury. The chief of police of Terre Haute was requested to arrest Finkelstein. Governor Deneen has issued a requisition for the return of the Indiana man, and officers from this city went to Terre Haute to bring him here.

Finkelstein is charged in the indictment with having bribed highway commissioners in this state to buy goods from the firm he represents. W. G.
Koch of Adams county, Illinois, alleges that Finkelstein gave him $82.50 for an order which the latter sold to the county.

TO TEST LAW

New York Insurance Company Doesn't Like Indiana Ruling.

Indianapolis, Oct. 20.—A suit to enjoin State Auditor John C. Billheimer from revoking the license of the company or attempting to collect any taxes, fees, fines or forfeitures in addition to those already paid by the company was filed in superior court by the Continental Insurance company, a New York company, doing a fire insurance business in Indiana. The action is brought to test the application of the reciprocal insurance statute, and to test the right of the state auditor to proceed under the interpretation of that law recently advanced by Governor Marshall and backed up by an opinion of Attorney General Bingham.

ing condition. He expired at St. Jo-

Disappointment in a love affair is believed to have caused the suicide.

A BURS OF FRANKNESS

Democratic State Candidate Admits
"We Are Clear Up in the Air."

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, Oct. 20.—Desperate, dismembered, discredited and in retreat all along the line, Indiana Democrats under Tom Taggart are showing the usual signs of peevishness and vulgar temper at this time. Peevishness continues, as they began, to conduct a campaign on the high and clear lines of decency, good humor and common sense, appealing to the voters on broad lines, and asking support on a basis of deeds and abilities. A great has been made for the state ticket on its merits, and the result is that the Taggart state ticket, made up almost entirely at the whim of the boss, without regard to fitness or capacity, is suffering serious slumps. The Republican state ticket has forged to the front rapidly, and at this time is expected to win out handily, in its effect. A Democratic state candidate, talking of the situation yesterday in Indianapolis, said: "If Republicans are having half the troubles we are having, heaven pity them. We are clear up in the air and we do not know where we will land. That's the truth."
This was in a burst of frankness, and the gentleman's name is not given,
but if he desires to attach his signature, opportunity will be given at any time.

The Democratic candidates for congress are finding many difficulties which they did not expect to meet in the campaign. They are beset on all sides by embarrassing queries. Soldiers are laughing at them for their pension talk. Farmers are reprimanding them sharply for talking lower prices. Workmen demand to know where they stand on the tariff, for the wage-earner does not desire a leveling down of wages or prices to European levels. The business man wants to know if these Indiana Democrats actually do advocate an immediate revision of the tariff to a revenue-only basis. For if this is the case the Indiana business man must know it in order to vote against such a proceeding. The people generally want to know why
the Democratic candidates for congress are against the common sense, fair and scientific proposition of a tariff commission. The people believe the tariff can be adjusted fairly by non-partisan experts. They ask why Democrats refuse to permit this to be done. The people believe the tariff can be revised schedule at a time without log-rolling or trades. They ask these Democratic congressmen why this system is not approved by certain Democrats.

Then, too, the voters ask these Democratic congressmen whom they will support for speaker. They get the reply: Champ Clark, of Missouri. Immediately rises the picture of Champ Clark, fire-eating sectionalist drawing a bowie-knife on a union soldier at New Albany some years ago, with the threat, from the platform to "cut out the heart" of an inoffensive but militant citizen. They think, especially the old soldiers, of Champ Clark and his public statement that the Morgan raid through Indiana was "the most heroic cavalry dash of history." Now the Union soldiers, and the people of Southern Indiana, do not look on that Morgan raid as Clark does. They regarded it as something other than a cavalry dash. And when Indiana Democratic congressmen propose by their votes to put Champ Clark in as speaker, the soldiers think of the fine chance pension legislation would have with Clark in the speaker's chair. These Democratic congressmen all say they are for the dollar-a-day pension. But they do not say anything about the Democratic caucus, controlled by southern Democrats and hostile against all pensions. Naturally many questions being put to the Democratic congressmen puzzle them and annoy them greatly. And among these is the demand why they voted against the postal savings bank law.

It is true, as William Allen White said, some months ago, that the opposition is using all sorts of tactics of a dirty and crooked sort, in the effort to elect a Democratic legislature. In working for a Democratic legislature the special interests seek to destroy existing temperance laws and at the same time are trying to down Senator Beveridge and retire him to private life. William Allen White said:
"They will use money in Indiana.
They will use political trickery in Indiana. They will use every scheme and dodge that the wily politician knows in the high degree of the craft."
"The people of Indiana have to vote
through a legislature in order to return Senator Beveridge, so it may be expected that every Republican candidate for the legislature will be assailed, not because he is for Beveridge—not at all!"

"The candidates will be attacked on personal grounds; local issues will be manufactured; stories will be spread, every inducement will be held out for the average voter to vote for the Democratic legislative candidates."
And all this has all come true. But the people of Indiana will stand the test.

FIVE BIG BALLOONS NOT ACCOUNTED FOR

Probably Landed In Lake Or Canadian Wilderness.

St. Louis, Oct. 20.—Lieutenant Vogt and W. F. Assmann, with the balloon Hamburg III., in the international balloon race which started from St. Louis Monday evening, came down in the upper bay of Lake Nipissing, Ontario, 775 miles from St. Louis. They descended from a height of 18,000 feet with two and one-half sacks of ballast at a terrific speed. Assmann was injured when they struck the water,
within a few hundred feet of the shore.
They were in the basket of their balloon in the water for three hours before the wind blew them close to a barren island. They hailed two Cherokee Indians, who paddled them ashore, ten miles from the nearest town. Assmann's left arm was broken in the fall.

Alfred Le Blanc and E. G. Schmo-dek, in the balloon Isle de France, landed three miles north of Pogama-sing, Ont., 725 miles from St. Louis, in a wild forest. They were the fourth reported down.

Five racers are still in the air, it is believed, or else down in a wild country where it is difficult to get in communication with the world.

SLAIN AT DOORWAY

Famous Kentucky Politician Victim
of Four Assassins.

Jackson, Ky., Oct. 20.—Matt Craw-sassin. Crawford was called out of his home by three men and a woman and his body riddled with bullets when he appeared in the doorway. The cause for the shooting is not known. Charles Little and his wife have been arrested in connection with the murder and other arrests are expected to follow.

School Children in Danger.

Shelbyville, Ind., Oct. 20.—Sixteen children were injured, three seriously, when a team of horses to a school
back ran away in Marion township.
The children were scattered along the

Republican "Want Ads" Bring Results

Modern Life Would Be Too Hard on the Nerves If It Were Not For Want Advertising

The pace of life has become tense.

Worries, disappointments, up-sets at home and office, losses, discouragements seem to multiply as daily life becomes more complex.

The property owner, who MUST have a steady income from rents or lose his property, is "racked" by the untimely defection of a tenant. Some classified advertising quickly retrieves his loss—and quiets his nerves!

The salary-earner unexpectedly loses his position—and his peace-of-mind. The strain would shortly
"break" something in his nervous system, if, once more,
want advertising did not find the better job—and restore him his mental equilibrium.

In every phase of the city's life, every day, the Want Ads play the part of the peace-maker. They SERVE you and me at some crisis in our lives—and keep the modern pace and tension from proving too fast and tight for US.

Truly, the Want Ads ARE FOR SERVICE!

Social Events

The most charming wedding of the month of brides, beautiful in all of its appointments, was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Amos in North Perkins street last evening at eight o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Mary Amos was married to Lawrence Root, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Root of Piqua, Ohio, former residents of this city. It was primarily a Kappa Kappa Gamma wedding, all of the young lady attendants being members of the sorority with which the bride is affiliated and the Kappa songs being used effectively during the ceremony. The impressive ring service was used and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. V. W. Tevis.

Promptly at eight o'clock, Miss Marietta Coffin of Marion, a fraternity sister of the bride, began to sing, "Beloved it is Morn," with Miss Jean Bishop, also a Kappa, at the piano. Miss Bishop played Lohengrin's wedding march as the bridal party came down the stairway. The wedding party was led by the bridesmaids, Miss Claudia Armstrong of Eaton, Ind., and Miss Myrta Smith of Noblesville, Ind., and the attendants, Sam Anderson and Roy E. Harold. Following the attendants, were the bridegroom, Lawrence Root, and the groomsmen, Don B. Root, of Piqua, Ohio, brother of the bridegroom. The maid of honor, Miss Orma Innis came next, followed by Mrs. Charles Crumpacker of Hammond, Ind., matron of honor, and then the bride, Miss Mary Amos, walking beside her father, Willard Amos.

The ceremony was performed under canopy of asparagus artistically arranged across the west end of the parlor and tastefully studded with white chrysanthemums. When the bridal party had entered the parlor, the lights were turned off and the candles on the mantles in the parlor and library furnished the only light.

At the beginning of the ceremony, Miss Bishop played "The Flower Song," followed by a Kappa song.

The wedding colors of yellow and white were carried out in beautiful detail in the gowns of the wedding party. The bride wore a gown of white marquisette over duchess satin, elaborately trimmed in real lace. She wore a long veil, caught with orange blossoms, which were used by the mother on her wedding day. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids. Mrs. Crumpacker was gown in yellow crepe-de-chine over satin, made entraine, and carried white chrysanthemums. Miss Innis wore white crepe-de-chine over satin and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Armstrong was gown in a yellow crepe-de-chine over satin. Miss Smith was gown in a beautiful marquisette over satin. The two bridesmaids, the Misses Armstrong and Smith, carried French baskets of white roses, tied with yellow tulle. Mrs. Amos wore a blue silk crepe with chiffon drapery and trimmed with rhinestone buckles. Mrs. Root wore a dress of rose chiffon cloth over satin.

The wedding colors of yellow and white with asparagus, chrysanthemums and autumn leaves were carried out in the decorations. The dining room was especially beautiful, the mantle being banked in yellow chrysanthemums and ferns. The bride's table was adorned with an immense flat centerpiece of chrysanthemums. The place cards at the table were miniature wedding books and the favors were miniature suit cases, filled with tiny hearts. The wedding supper was served to the other guests on small tables for four placed in the other rooms of the house and on the veranda.

The bride's favors to the maids were gold Kappa Kappa Gamma lockets. The bridegroom's favors to the attendants were fleur-de-lis, the Kappa emblem, stick pins. The bride received many beautiful and costly gifts.

The bridal couple was assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Amos, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Root, parents of the bridegroom. After the reception, the couple departed on a wedding trip. The bride was attired in a dark blue suit with lavender stripe, a waist of black marquisette over satin and a dark blue turban, trimmed with tapestry.

Miss Amos is a member of the Iota chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma at DePauw University and is also a member of the local chapter of Tri Kappas. She was graduated from the Rushville high school in 1905 and has a large circle of friends here. Mr. Root has lived in Rushville all of his life with the exception of the past two years. He was graduated from the local high school and was a student in Purdue University for a time. Mr. and Mrs. Root will be at home on a farm a short distance south of the city, where they have their home furnished.

The guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Root, sons, Paul and Don, and Miss Alma Mason of Piqua, Ohio; Mrs. T. Charles Crumpacker of Hammond, Ind.; the Misses Mildred Moore, Helen Montgomery, Eva Valodin and Dona Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Talbott, daughters, the Misses Hypatia and Lucile, and Donald Stackhouse, Roy Millikin and Earl Hunt of Indianapolis; Miss Myrta Smith of Noblesville; Miss Claudia Armstrong and Harry Armstrong of Eaton; Miss Nancy Hadley of Plainfield; Miss Marietta Coffin of Marion; Miss Ida Friedgen of Richmond; Mrs. Emma Talbott, Miss Lucy Inlow, Len Mull and Will Inlow of Manilla; Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Duncan of Greenfield; George David Nichol of Muncie; and Ed Doll of Connersville.

LARGE CROWD GREETED BARNARD

Congressman, Candidate for Re-election. Attracts Good Sized Audience at Orange.

WAS ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Representative Dwelt on Legislation Made by Last Congress—Spent Some Time on Tariff.

Another large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held Tuesday night at Orange. The township hall was nicely decorated for the occasion and the Lincoln drum corps lent spice and fire to the atmosphere of the gathering.

Walter Bossert opened the meeting with a brief speech, in which he outlined the bigger issues of the campaign and stated briefly the things for which the Republican party is standing. It was a sound, practical talk, and it fell on friendly ears, for the speaker won the unstinted applause of the crowd.

After Mr. Bossert closed his remarks, Monroe A. Starr introduced Congressman Barnard. Judge Barnard is, perhaps, better known as a conservative business man and a lawyer than as an orator, but Tuesday night's speech was a stirring demonstration of the fact that he is also an orator of force. He spoke chiefly of his own labors and experience in the House of Representatives, of the things for which he had stood and fought, and of the nature of the enemies he had opposed.

As he described the difficulties which he had undergone, and told, without a taint of vanity, of what he had been able to accomplish, an absolute hush prevailed in the hall, save for his own clear voice. The address must have inspired everyone who heard it with a deeper respect of admiration for the man, for it was a story of the truth, as most of his hearers know full well, and it was told impressively and quietly. At times he digressed from the theme long enough to pay some tribute to a man like Beveridge or Roosevelt, and each time he did so he drew a thunder of applause.

It was a spirited meeting throughout, and when it was over it seemed that everyone in the hall wanted to be first to clasp hands with Judge Barnard and with the others who had had part in the meeting.
